B20 cantilever chairs designed by Axel Bruchhäuser for Tecta, Germany, circa 1980.

Inspired by the Bauhaus experiments of Mart Stam and Marcel Breuer, these seats reinterpret their spirit with a contemporary approach. The bent tubular steel frame supports a seat and backrest in woven grey synthetic rattan, providing comfort and flexibility while affirming a lasting modernity. The B20 model reflects Tecta's ambition to extend and update the Bauhaus legacy, combining fidelity to historic forms with material innovation.
