DESCRIPTION

Pair of table lamps produced by Mathias in France, circa 1970.

Each lamp stands on a circular base supporting a polished gilt brass sphere. The upper part features an adjustable dome-shaped reflector in matching brass, allowing the light to be directed. The design is based on simple geometric forms, contrasting the solid sphere with the lightness of the metal shade.

Manufacturer's label present under the base.

Manufacturer: Mathias, France, circa 1970.
