DESCRIPTION

Pair of « Club 1195 » floor lamps designed in 1985 by Giuseppe Ramella for Arteluce.

The structure is made of lacquered metal in black and white with a conical base providing stability. The orientable diffuser is produced in opaline glass depending on production batches. Height can be adjusted from 130 cm to 158 cm to create ambient or focused lighting.

This model reflects the understated and efficient nature of Italian lighting in the 1980s, combining practicality with discreet elegance.

Good overall condition.

Manufacturer : Arteluce Italy, 1985.
