DESCRIPTION

Mirror designed by Sori Yanagi, circa 1975, for Akita Mokko, a renowned manufacturer known for its exceptional craftsmanship in woodworking.

This oval-shaped mirror is a perfect representation of Sori Yanagi's design philosophy, which sought to harmonize simplicity, functionality, and beauty. Yanagi emphasizes the natural beauty of beech wood, a material central to his work, while maintaining clean, refined lines and a form that remains free of excess. The mirror's minimalist design shows his commitment to balancing form and utility, creating a piece that is both elegant and practical.
